

Personal statement

I consider myself as innovative thinker, I like to invent something on my free time, I usually comes up with idea of developing something. Communication art is a program that I want to study. This program provides techniques about how to communication by using art. The university that I want to enter is Chulalongkorn University. Communication art in this university provides a basic knowledge of marketing, writing, art and social in the first year. The second year we can choose what we want to study. I want to apply for this program because it provides fundamental knowledges of everything in this field, so I will be able to know what I like the most. In this program, it does not only teach you about art, but it also teaches about business, so when I graduate, I would know how to start my own business.

I am interested in art, and I want to be a creative designer or an organizer who is able to express her own thought trough art work to others. I want other people to understand what I think, without saying anything, and when I express my ideas through my work. I like to organize or even manage an event. I am the one who has an idea of doing something new, I want to create or invent something. I like when people say that they are inspired by my work or thought. I am the one who has deep thinking and have another side of thought, I tried to think carefully about what they are really like, so that will make my work more accurate. I think about what meaning of this work should be. I am the one who thinks back to front, so I will think about the result before thinking about the method. I think I could help to get into what the consumer really want. In this program, it dose not only provides teaching about art work, but it also provide a marketing lesson, I think it help us, students, to understand more about the needs of people. However, I am the one who has a deep thinking, but sometime I am not sure about what it should be, I have too many thoughts. I often get new ideas when I go to another place, leading to the influential inspiration. I used to be a representative of the class in teacher day when I was in grade 7,8 and 10, from that event I know that how hard it was to be a representative, how hard to work with others people, people who are from different classes and grades, others that I don't even know them. That experience teaches me how to be a part of a group and how to get other ideas, then develop my own thought. I used to be a cheerleader since I was in grade 8 until recently, I have received lots of skills from being a cheerleader Through practicing everyday for about 2-3 months. I know how hard to be perfect and learned that nothing is easy. In order to move forward, we have to do it again and again. I know to get into the group and how to make others accept me because when I was in grade 10 I was the youngest person in the group, and at that time I did not know anyone yet. I know how to handle a situation that has lots of pressure. We got a conflict once while practice, it was lots of massive pressure, so now I know how to deal with it.

Now, I tried my best to study hard to get as knowledge as I could to develop myself, I tried to get more experience from other activities. I tried to attend as much activity as I could to get more experience. I believe that experience is the thing that you can not find in any book or lesson. Communication art is seeking for activity student, and I am the one who like to attend the activity, I think it is fun and challenge when I do the activity. Most of adult think that activity is not important as mush as study, but I actually they are wrong, activity give many things to you more than you think, you will get new friends, new attitude, and new thought from doing activities.
